

MARTHA KUSCH

She wishes to become a teacher,
And not the wife of any preacher,
To read and spell,
And figure well,
In her class-room will be a feature.

MARIAN POTTER

Her bright smile haunts me still;
She's every inch a queen.
Be still, my heart, alloy your joy,
She loves you best, Pauline.

DURWOOD MOODIE

A specialist in Latin, Physics and baseball. Is fast becoming another Cicero. He intends to become a school teacher, second to none.

ERNIE TITUS

Cheerful, enthusiastic, forceful.
Aim—"To hit the 'bull's eye.'" Excels in basketball. He's a Yankee. 'Nuff sed.

MARIE SENUK

From Ukraine's delightful domain
She has come here our children to train,
In the wisdom and lore
Of the sages of yore
And the virtues that thrive on the plain.

DOROTHY DAY

Here's to Dot, demure and coy;
Her future shows no lack of joy.
Of little curls she has a crowd,
And of her talents we are proud.

CLARENCE COULTER

Coulter's sole ambition seems
To live in luxury and dreams.
When good times come
And things will hum
He hopes that he will have the
"means."

DANIEL CLARK

A short and reserved boy is Dan,
Always striving to learn what he can.
By nature he's shy,
But his standing is high,
And some day he'll make a real man,

MARGARET HILTON

Did you ever see giggles and smiles?
This little girl has them by miles.
With mahogany curls,
All in twists and in whirls,
She captures us all with her wiles.

HARRY HIVES

There are no drones with him.
Ambition—To cultivate a pompadour.

Although he has been with us but a short time, he is one of the talented members of the Paul Club.

IRWIN METCALF

He's surely a wonderful kid,
His talents can never be hid.
He's a jolly good sport
And a sensible sort,
For there's grey matter under his lid.

MURIEL MANLY

She is modest and mild, but not meek.
Not a statelier Miss could you seek.
But her mind's far away,
For she dreams of the day
When she'll publish a story a week.

DOROTHEA BRYANS

IV. A's specialty—Dorothea's and Harrington's duets. If Dorothea transmits the fluency of her tongue
to her pen, she will soon be a successful scenario writer.

REID ELLIOTT

Reid's a sweet and dimpled boy,
Mother's pride and IV. B's joy.
He's very small
But surprises all,
When the girls he will annoy.

HARRINGTON MANLY

A manly youth who resides
"quietly" in the back seat. Is ambitious of becoming mayor of Sutherland.

DOROTHY CLEVELAND

First in work and first in play,
Always happy, bright and gay.
In baseball, and in math,
She shows us the path
To success, which we'll tread if we may.
